

When one door of happiness
closes, another opens;
but often we look so long
at the closed door
that we do not see
the one which has been opened for us.

~Helen Keller

When one door of happiness
closes, another opens;
but often we look so long
at the closed door
that we do not see
the one which has been
opened for us.

~Helen Keller

When one door of happiness
closes, another opens;
but often we look so long
at the closed door
that we do not see
the one which has been
opened for us.

~Helen Keller

