Tell the story in your own words (in short-----because of the covenant the ANL had made not to kill, H convinced them not to break their covenant, but instead to send their sons who had not entered the covenant to battle, the 2,000 SW were sent out as decoys past a city occupied by the Lamanites, the Lamanites came out to attack them, the big Nephite army went after the Lamanites who were chasing the 2,000 SW, the Nephites were getting beat so the 2,000 SW turned around and helped saying they knew they would be protected because their mothers had told them about faith, many seasoned soildiers were killed but not 1 of the 2,000 young boys because of their faith)

Think Jeopardy....

Set up the points and categories on the floor like this:

Word of Wisdom	Baptism	Let each child choose the number of points and category they want to try for. Ask them the corresponding question. If they get it wrong, tell them the correct answer and that question is out of play. If they get it right, they keep the point card.
100	100
200	200	If someone breaks a rule, take away a point card.
500	500	Add up the points at the end of the game. The winner gets to choose treats first.
1000	1000	The kids have played this before, so it should be easy for you and fun for them!

Let me know if you have any questions!
