

Communication Charades

OBJECT: to use photographs to communicate a specific word or idea

RULES: Each group is given a digital camera, a list of words and a specific amount of time to come up with one photo (containing no written words), to describe each word on the list. At the end of a set time, all participants will gather and photos will be downloaded. Each group will then try to guess what words were being communicated by the other groups. The group with the most correct answers, win!
