

FOR THE STRENGTH OF YOUTH GAME

by Susan van Scheltema

Questions and answers for this game are based on the layout and content of the booklet as follows:

The cover, introductory page, contents page, and appendix are also used.

Set up and instructions:

Cut the 22 question strips below, then fold and mix them up in a bowl so that they are chosen at random. The game host can pick them, or each team can pick out a question for the game host to read each round.

Each team gets ONE copy of the For Strength of Youth book. For each question the book must be passed on to a different player to answer on their own. No hands allowed to touch the book while the question is being read. After a signal from the game host after reading out the question they may begin searching. It's a race to see which team can find the answer first. ALL answers must be found and shown in the book in order to score. You may spend time on a specific topic before moving on. You can score this game any way you wish.
